Grand Opening of New Los Gatos Library Set for February 11, 2012!

Los Gatos, CA - At long last, the Los Gatos community will be able to walk through the doors of their new public library! The grand opening of the new facility is set for 10:00 a.m., Saturday, February 11, 2012.

After the doors are opened, the public will get their first glimpse of the 30,000 sq.ft., two-story facility. Activities will be planned throughout the day to feature the various sections of the new library, such as the children's area, teen's "treehouse," history room, periodical room with fireplace, and even a behind-the-scenes look at the book processing station. The new library will be open for business from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. More activities will be scheduled on Sunday.

Ground-breaking for the new library occurred on June 21, 2010, launching an approximate 17-month construction period. Construction will be completed at the end of November, with commissioning of the building systems and the move of books and materials from the old library occurring thereafter. The old library will be closed beginning January 16, 2012 to allow for the transition.
